

ABSTRACT

[0001] A computer system includes a support arm that when unfolded may enable a display section to be operated in a laptop mode, tablet mode, or convertible mode. A latching mechanism engages or disengages the support arm to or from the display section.